School Fire Fatal To Crippled Pupil

MOUNT AIR, N. C. — UP — A crippled nine-year-old third grader who "just couldn't walk right" dropped behind his 400 fleeing classmates Friday and burned to death in a flaming school.

Good Evening!

At last — the weekend.

You know there are times when this two-day stretch comes in awful handy to give your communication lines a breather.

And if the weatherman comes up with another spot of climate as we've had for the past week, we'll start building him a monument.

FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover lashes out at pseudo-liberals and self-styled social reformers as tools of the Communist conspiracy.

He was never more right. These characters trafficking on emotions of the starry-eyed in the name of "more freedom" are merely undermining the reasonable authority implied in our style of government.

Come to think of it, the top FBI man who yesterday received the top honor of Freedom Foundation has done quite a job for his country during the past three decades.

And a top Paris fashion designer unveils his spring collection showing milady's hemline going right up to the knee-cap.

Well sir, like we always say, patience does it. Life will be worth living again.

Basilio stops Saxton in the second in that alleged welter-weight title match last night.

Before the advent of TV, the fight would have been just a fair preliminary scrap.

A tip is something you give to someone who wouldn't like not being paid for something you didn't ask him to do in the first place.

Enjoy yourself during the weekend by all means. But watch your driving.

Go to church tomorrow.

Crash Search Halted By Icy Waters

Five Known Dead In Air Crackup Over Korea

SEOUL, Korea—UP—A 19-foot tide of icy water swept into the Han River estuary today halting a search for 15 to 20 servicemen missing in the crash of a U.S. Air Force C124 Globemaster with more than 150 aboard.

Air-ground teams of helicopters and 300 soldiers recovered five bodies before the swirling tide, carrying huge cakes of ice, rushed up the river and partly covered the sandpit where the giant transport crash-landed Friday night.

There was some confusion about the number missing.

Number Missing Differs

Far East Air Force headquarters in Tokyo said 20 were missing out of 159 aboard the plane. But U.S. Air Force authorities here said that due to a "mixture in manifests" there may have been from 157 to 161 persons aboard.

Their figures listed 137 survivors and five known dead.

Hospitals at Ascom City and Kimpo Air Base discharged 100 survivors this morning. They had been rushed to the two hospitals last night by helicopter and ambulance during a frenzied evacuation from the tide-threatened sandpit where they were marooned.

Air Force headquarters in Tokyo said the four-engined Globemaster, with a crew of 10, was carrying servicemen to Japan for vacations.

Engine Conks Out

Shortly after taking off from Kimpo Airport, the pilot radioed that his No. 3 engine had failed and he was returning to Kimpo.

Apparently unable to reach the airstrip, he made a beautiful belly-landing four minutes after take-off on the sandpit island in the Han, 11 miles northwest of Seoul.

An Air Force spokesman said the fuel tanks ruptured when the plane crashed.

Auto Strikes Young Boy

A combination of circumstances, the blinding sun and a broken bicycle chain, sent a ten-year-old Parkland boy to the Lower Bucks County Hospital late yesterday afternoon.

Albert Rhoads, 1407 Rising Sun avenue, was admitted to the hospital suffering from a compound fracture of the left leg and contusions.

Middletown township patrolman Paul Mucklow said the boy was struck by a car operated by Mrs. Estelle Fulcomer, 45, of 1025 Virginia avenue, Langhorne.

Firemen from Newportville Fire company pour streams of water into the burning building owned by Mr. and Mrs. David Llewellyn, Durham road, in Bristol Township.

Bristol Twp. Blaze Destroys Quarters

An early evening blaze yesterday ravaged a garage converted into living quarters adjacent to the home of Mr. and Mrs. David Llewellyn, Durham road, in Bristol Township.

Captain Thomas Traber of the Newportville Fire Company estimated damage to the building at between $800 and $1000 and Mrs. Llewellyn said the burned contents were worth "at least a couple thousand dollars."

The building, turned into a bedroom, was occupied by the Llewellyn's son, Thomas, 13, and a boarder, Joseph Schmilzer, 49.

Mrs. Llewellyn remarked the boy and a companion, "Butch" Zogorski, were in the room at about 6:50 last night. She explained Tom went over to the main house and moments later "Butch" ran out yelling, "fire, fire." The woman looked over and saw the garage on fire. The Newportville Fire company was summoned.

Curtains Catch Fire

The woman said "Butch" explained it looked as though the curtains near the oil burner caught fire.

One side of the building, the interior walls and ceiling were destroyed.

Mrs. Llewellyn stated a new bedroom suite and another bed were destroyed plus a kitchen set which was stored in the building and some valuable gowns and dress suits also stored.

The fire company remained on the scene for over an hour.

Move Studied To Head Off Any Sanction

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. — UP — Canada was reported today considering asking the United Nations to demand "declarations of non-belligerency" from both Egypt and Israel to end the Middle East deadlock.

Informed sources said Canadian Minister of External Affairs Lester B. Pearson was toying with the idea of making such a request to head off a vote of sanctions against Israel if other means to get Israel troops out of Egypt fail.

Pearson had expected to speak at Friday's General Assembly session on the Middle East, but changed his mind at the last minute.

Await Further Talks

U. S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., did not speak either, and the White House made it plain that the American positions on sanctions would not be disclosed until Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and State Ambassador Abba S. Eban consult again.

Eban is scheduled to return to Washington tomorrow from London, where he stopped over last night enroute from Jerusalem. The General Assembly is in recess until Monday.

Six members of the 27-nation Afro-Asian group submitted a resolution to the assembly yesterday calling on the United Nations' 80 members to "deny all military, economic, or financial assistance to Israel in view of its continued defiance" of UN withdrawal resolutions.

Vote Next Week

The sponsors are Afghanistan, Indonesian, Iraq, Lebanon, Pakistan, and Sudan.

Diplomats saw little likelihood a vote on such a resolution would be reached before late next week.

Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold told the assembly in one of his infrequent interventions.

Reds Boast Atomic Arms

MOSCOW — UP — Soviet Russia celebrated Armed Forces Day today boasting that the Red Army is newly rearmend with atomic and thermonuclear weapons to stop aggression and strengthen peace.

The development of the Soviet economy, in particular heavy industry, as well as the achievements of science and technology, has made it possible to rearm the army, air force, and navy with first class armaments, including atomic and thermonuclear weapons," the army newspaper Red Star said.

"The Soviet Army fights only in the just cause of the defense of its Socialist fatherland and its interests, to stop imperialist aggression and strengthen peace," the Communist Party newspaper Pravda asserted.

Salutes fired in Moscow and other cities marked the 39th anniversary of the Soviet armed forces.

Soviet Defense Minister Georgi Zhukov charged in an address to a bemedalled company of marshals, generals, and admirals that the Western powers are following an aggressive policy aimed at war.

U. S. Hopeful Of Break In Middle East

Israel Skeptical About Gaza Vows Given By Egypt

WASHINGTON — UP — U.S. officials said today Egyptian agreement to allow UN troops into the Gaza Strip may break the current Middle East deadlock.

But Israeli officials here adopted a less hopeful attitude.

"Egypt has made promises in the past," one Israeli official said skeptically.

American diplomatic action on the Israeli-Egyptian crisis came to a virtual standstill as U.S. officials awaited the arrival tomorrow afternoon of Israeli Ambassador Abba Eban.

Eban, who left here only Monday, headed back to Washington from Israel with his government's latest answer to President Eisenhower's call for withdrawal of Israeli troops from the Gaza Strip and the Gulf of Aqaba.

High administration officials said they would delay reaching a decision on possible sanctions against Israel until after hearing from Eban.

Six Arab nations formally brought a proposal for sanctions against Israel before the United Nations yesterday.

But the White House said the United States would not declare itself on the issue until possibly Monday. That killed the chances for immediate action in the United Nations.

U.S. officials gave no indication that the United States is even thinking about giving Israel any more concessions prior to any withdrawal.

Prospective Teachers Tour Bristol Township Schools

Miss Charlotte Fink, welcoming committee of Bristol township school officials, shows Raymond Thomas one of the classrooms at Benjamin Franklin High school. Mr. Thomas is one of 200 prospective teachers who made a day-long tour of the school district yesterday. School rooms weren't occupied because of Washington's birthday recess.

Guy F. Eberhart, regional superintendent, enjoys a joke with Miss Dianne Reichert at a dinner of school officials and guests. The orientation program was designed to interest graduating education students in the Bucks county school district.

"So this is Bristol township—Delhaas teaching!" might be what the some 200 guests had to say about their Bucks county visit. The teachers wound up the day with an evening dancing in the Delhaas gym. Music was by Jack Hopkins orchestra and "dates" for free-lancing teachers were officers from Ft. Dix, contacted for the dinner-dance by school officials.

Bristol Twp. Tax Collector Takes $23,000 Slash In Commission

Can't Remember Courageous Clerk Tells Of Capture

"Now that I think it over, I can't remember how I did it," said courageous Elmira Weber, of Bristol, clerk in Pomeroy's Department store in the Levittown Shopping Center.

The pretty brunette stopped a fleeing shoplifter, who was later admitted to Lower Bucks County hospital suffering from ulcers, Thursday afternoon.

He was identified as Orville H. Davis, 32, of Grovelane avenue, Newportville.

Davis was scheduled for a hearing yesterday before Justice of the Peace Earl Dougherty, Bristol township, but due to his stomach ailment, it was postponed until his condition improves.

Cameron Gives Cut OK To School Board

Robert Cameron, Bristol Township tax collector, has agreed to take a 50 per cent cut in his commission on 1957 school tax collections, it was learned today. This will cost him an estimated $23,000.

Benjamin F. Stockett, president of the Bristol Township school board, said Cameron agreed to a reduction of his commission from two per cent down to one per cent for the last six months of the year.

Nearly 90 per cent of the year's taxes are collected between July and the end of December.

Cameron's term expires at the end of the year. Stockett said the school board will meet next Thursday to discuss setting a flat salary for the incoming tax collector. Cameron is seeking reelection.

High Budget

"In view of what will be a very high budget the school board is trying to justify every expenditure. At the two per cent rate, Mr. Cameron's commission would have been about $46,000. This seemed to be too much to us. We asked him to take a voluntary cut and he agreed," Stockett said.

Stockett pointed out that the board would not have been able to force Cameron to take a cut if he refused.

Stockett estimated that nearly $2,300,000 will be taken in through the school board's real estate tax, which has been tentatively set at between 60 and 63 mills.

If this rate is adopted it will mean an increase of between 13 and 16 mills.

"We appreciate Mr. Cameron's action. It will mean a savings of $23,000 to the school board," Stockett said.

In addition to Cameron's commission from school taxes, Stockett estimated he gets another $10,000 from collection taxes for the Board of Commissioners, and $6000 from county taxes.

Six Employees

The tax collector has six full-time employees in his office.

The school board president said that if any action is going to be taken on paying the incoming tax collector for 1957 the board would have to act soon. It will have to be set so that candidates for the office will have an idea what the reimbursement will be and have a chance to withdraw if the fee isn't high enough.

tions that Egypt had agreed to permit the UN Emergency Force to enter the strip and deploy on its northern border when Israeli troops withdraw.

He said Egypt is ready and willing to work with UN relief agencies in caring for the 217,000 Arab refugees in the strip.

This meshed with a dispatch from Tel Aviv quoting Israeli Religious Affairs Minister Moshe Shapira that Israel would be willing to hand over control of the Gaza Strip to the United Nations on the condition that Egyptian forces not be allowed to return.

It was not made clear just how the two viewpoints could be reconciled, but presumably the Washington discussions between Eban and Dulles will dwell on this point at length.

Demos Back Candidate

William J. O'Neil, of 251 Blue Ridge drive, Levittown, has been unanimously endorsed for the Democratic nomination as Bristol Township commissioner from the Tenth Ward, by the area's committee people.

The announcement was made by Richard Frazer, party committeeman from the Third precinct of the ward.

The commission post is now held by Democrat John S. Gallagher, of 62 Black Walnut road, Blue Ridge. Gallagher was appointed by the county court in 1955. He has indicated that he will seek to return to the board next year and a primary fight seems certain.

O'Neil is chairman of the Zoning Board of Adjustment. By occupation he is a civil engineer.

Frazer said, "Mr. O'Neil is the most qualified candidate to represent the tenth Ward on the Board of Commissioners. He will greatly contribute to the township through his knowledge of highway and construction and road maintenance."

Frazer added that during World War II, O'Neil was assigned to the Army Engineers and later worked for a road construction firm.

Harbor Still Strike-Bound

NEW YORK—UP—East Coast longshoremen return to work today, ending a 10-day strike, but a surprise contract rejection by New York tugboatmen crippled harbor operations in the world's largest port.

There was little hope of an early settlement of the 23-day tugboat strike that has idled 4,000 harbor crewmen and cut off 70 per cent of fuel deliveries to the Greater New York area. Truck and occasional tanker deliveries, coupled with mild weather, forestalled a fuel crisis that had been forecast early in the walkout.

No new negotiations meetings were planned. But Capt. Joseph O'Hare, head of Local 333 of the United Marine division of the National Maritime workers, said he would try to arrange for a resumption of negotiations.
